-------------	----------------	-------------	------------	-----------------

Latin America begins the week with fresh electoral results reshaping capitals in Bogotá and Buenos Aires, while a sharp economic contraction in Mexico City adds macroeconomic unease. Simmering polls in Brasília further tighten the region's political calculus.

The Power Board

Fourteen nations, ranked by power — with today's move and the thirty-day trend.

SINCE YESTERDAY Sunday legislative elections delivered Argentina's ruling party 39% of the vote, and Colombia's presidential runoff produced a disputed victory for Abelardo de la Espriella with President Petro refusing to accept the result. Mexico reported an unexpected 0.8% Q1 GDP contraction.

WHY THIS IS A MAP, NOT A LIST Power is volatile — it builds for months and can vanish in a week. So the Power Map is built to move: every score carries today's shift and a thirty-day trend, and this page tracks who is gaining and losing over the week and month.
